

WES HODGES PROCONCEPTS COACHES CAMP

- Practice Set-up
- Practice Schedules
- Hitting Drills
- Plate approaches
- Fielding Drills and Positioning
- Strength tips
- How to properly take care of your players' arms
- Base running – drills and practice
- Tools of the trade; taking care of your equipment
- Positive motivation of players

The camp will be held on February 6, 2010 at the Real Sports Academy facility in Ooltewah, Tennessee
Cost: $65.00
Coaches & Dads
Times: 9:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

This camp is a must for all youth coaches and/or dads.

A portion of the proceeds will go to support local youth baseball associations

WES HAS BEEN HIRED TO CONSULT ON PRACTICES FOR SOME OF THE TOP TEAMS IN THE ATLANTA AREA WHERE HE NOW LIVES.

SPONSORED BY:

Every participant has a chance to win a bat, batting gloves, autographed items by MLB players and more by entering in a raffle!

BIO: A Chattanooga native, Wes Hodges led the 2003 Baylor School team to their first ever state championship and also the Chattanooga Cyclones to a fall team record for wins. His senior year at Baylor Wes was drafted by the Chicago White Sox in the 13th round but elected to attend Georgia Tech instead. He helped lead Tech to Super Regional play 2004, 2005 & 2006, and to the College World Series in 2006.

Baseball America Ranked him as the #4 freshman in the nation upon entering Georgia Tech and in his Sophomore year ranked him 20th when he finished his season 4th in school history (tied with Jason Varitek) in hits (106) with a .397 batting average. He played Team USA in the summer of '05. As a junior, Wes was a preseason All-American and was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in the 2nd round. Wes was named to the 2007 Carolina League ALL-STAR team and was named 5th best prospect and best power hitting prospect in the Carolina league. In 2008 Wes named Rookie of the Year in AA Eastern League, and played in the prestigious Futures All-Star game and AFC Top Prospects game. In 2009 Wes played in AAA.

For more information, please call George Koontz at (423) 309-4995 or Dylan Paris at (423) 605-1863 or go to RealSportsAcademy.com

